California law authorizes certain governmental and private organizations to conduct criminal offender record information background checks to help determine the suitability of a person applying for a license, employment, or a volunteer position working with children, the elderly, or the disabled. Law enforcement agencies, public and private schools, non-profit organizations, and in-home supportive care agencies are some of the organizations authorized to conduct these fingerprint-based background checks. During the 2014 calendar year, the Department of Justice (DOJ) processed more than 2.1 million applicant fingerprint transactions.

To assist both regulatory entities and applicants, the DOJ's Applicant Background Check Status accepts inquiries and provides a status. The Applicant Background
